

Emma,
6

I am worried about my daughter Emma. She was such a joyful baby and toddler, full of love, joy and laughter. In the last year Emma has changed. First, I noticed how quiet she was, then her sadness. I asked her what was wrong. She said, "Nothing", but I know better. My affectionate Emma is clingy now. It's different. I am taking her to the doctor this week and I will see what she says.

I know something is wrong.
I just know it.
