Impact in Sandoval:

UWCNM is working with Santa Ana Pueblo on an exciting project funded in part by the Los Alamos National Labs Foundation. This project will capitalize on the strengths of the Santa Ana Pueblo and research-based College and Career Readiness (CCR) approaches to help engage youth in understanding themselves, career pathways, and the skills needed to be a successful student and citizen. UWCNM and the Pueblo of Santa Ana will co-create and implement a CCR program for youth in middle through high school through a collaborative partnership that centers emerging college and career best practices and a culturally appropriate program into existing out of school time programs. Programming to be developed and launched in 2022.
